

Would you like to advertise your training activities to the largest on line community of nurses in general practice for free?

practicenursing.co.uk is launching a Forum Education Zone with the objective of becoming the most comprehensive training resource for nurses in general practice. With over 15,000 registered members, over 300,000 page views a month and a forum with over 100,000 posts the site is already the largest on-line community of nurses in general practice.

All you need to do is register on the site and add your contact details at <http://www.practicenursing.co.uk/FEZ> and we will set up your free advertising account.

If you would like further details, would like to know about button advertising on the site, inclusion in our regular newsletters and forum digest emails, would like us to submit your training programme on your behalf or would like to put on a webinar in one of our electronic meeting rooms please contact us at fez@practicenursing.co.uk

practicenursing.co.uk
Forum Education Zone

